THE BEAUTIFUL TRUTH

Dr. Rafael C. Cabrera's
Plastic Surgery Approach Is Both Honest And
Cutting-Edge

Dr. Rafael C. Cabrera

Wouldn't it be nice if we had a magic mirror that was bound by duty to tell us the bold truth about how we really look. No motives, no sugar coating. Unfortunately, this magic mirror only exists in fairy tales, but there is someone who will give you the straight truth about your appearance and the insight to what improvements you should or should not undertake. Cue Dr. Rafael Cabrera.

One of the most refreshing attributes about Dr. Cabrera is that he gives his patients the simple truth. He does not practice the "place your order here" approach. "This is not infomercial surgery. We are not trying to fit a particular procedure to each patient that walks through the door," says Dr. Cabrera. In fact, Dr. Cabrera will reassure you that your sister's, cousin's, best friend's idea of the perfect lips (chin, neck, nose, etc.) is wrong, and that less is actually more. He will evaluate what makes you look tired, aged, stressed or disproportionate. Sometimes the patient is quite surprised that their original vision of what needs to be "improved" is not always the best choice for them. Patients find Dr. Cabrera's observations quite insightful. "I utilize a real world approach to elective surgery, showing patients what they do not always see," explains Dr. Cabrera. In other words, he uses judgment without being judgmental.

“ This is not infomercial surgery. We are not trying to fit a particular procedure to each patient that walks through the door. ”
